WVU to host veterinary career day October 20

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. – Are you a student interested in pursuing a career in veterinary medicine?

If so, join the West Virginia University Davis-Michael Scholars Program and the West Virginia Veterinary Medical Association for the Ninth Annual Veterinary Career Day.

This educational event is scheduled for 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sat., Oct 20, at the Erickson Alumni Center in Morgantown.

The session will feature a series of short presentations from a variety of veterinary professionals and will give attendees an opportunity to interact one on one with presenters and educators.

Veterinarians will offer insight on what their position entails professionally and what a typical "day" practicing veterinary medicine includes. Faculty from the WVU Davis College of Agriculture, Natural Resources and Design will be present to discuss the Davis-Michael Pre-Veterinary Scholars Program.

An overview of the West Virginia Veterinary School Contract system for West Virginia residents will also be presented.

The free event is open to middle, high school and college students interested in learning more about the field of veterinary medicine. Parents, high school teachers, counselors and college advisers are also welcome to attend.

Those with allergies should be aware that live animals may be a part of the day. For additional information or to register, please visit http://davismichael.wvu.edu. All attendees and accompanying parents or guardians should register individually.

Registration forms must be completed online by October 6. The registration form can be found at davismichael.wvu.edu.

The Davis-Michael Scholars Program was established to support the pre-veterinary medicine program within the School of Agriculture and Food in the Davis College. This was made possible through a generous bequest from two Morgantown sisters, Gladys Gwendolyn Davis and Vivian Davis Michael. The Scholars Program is a direct result of their love of pets and their desire to foster quality veterinary care in West Virginia.
CONTACT: Tammy Blake, Davis-Michael Scholars Program
(davismichael@mail.wvu.edu)
304-293-1951

WVU News on the Web – http://wvutoday.wvu.edu/